Justin Trevino

Loud Music & Strong Wine

Justin Trevino The devil lives inside the heart of my woman

And sometimes he takes control of her body and her mind

In the arms of a stranger you may find her

Any place theres loud music and strong wine. I know Ill never leave cause I need her

And this left over love is all thats mine

Ill build my world around all she can offer

While shes a prisoner of loud music and strong wine. Sometimes I hate myself for loving such a woman

But she has a way of loving the hate out of my mind

She cant resist temptations forbidden pleasures

Or her passion for loud music and strong wine.
