

Your Love Is A Mystery

Hawk Nelson

God, I messed it up again
I seem to do this all the time
Can you forgive me one again
Or have I finally crossed the line? They say Your grace is always with me
And You're near me all the time
If that's the case I pray sincerely
That Your love is truly blind The people on the outside watching me
Follow the crowd, find a way out, You know
Something on the inside's pushing me
Without a doubt, so I'm letting it go I'm never always right and it's plain to see
You love me, Jesus, it's a mystery
You know my faults, You know my wrongs
And You still love me God, I know that you exist
I've been told a thousand times
But my friends, they all insist
That the truth is just a lie You see the lives that they all live
Seems like a party all the time
The temptations I resist
Because it's You I glorify People on the outside watching me
Follow the crowd, find a way out, You know
Something on the inside's pushing me
Without a doubt, so I'm letting it go I'm never always right and it's plain to see
You love me, Jesus, it's a mystery
You know my faults, You know my wrongs
And You still love me Let everything that I do or say
Reflect You in every way, Your way I'm never always right and it's plain to see
You love me, Jesus, it's a mystery
You know my faults, You know my wrongs
And You still love me I'm never always right and it's plain to see
You love me, Jesus, it's a mystery
You know my faults, You know my wrongs
And You still love me You love me, Jesus, it's a mystery
You love me, Jesus, it's a mystery
