

Out Of Sight, Out Of Mind

Fill; Avoid

I remember your goodbye
And the late December sky seems so long ago
 You were standing on the quay
 And you blew a kiss to me, I was sad to go
 The ship began to pull away
 Then I heard a stranger say
 It's sad to see true lovers part
 'Cause sometimes lovers feel a change of heart
 Out of sight and out of mind
 Well the stranger's words came true
 And the prophecy went through
 I knew it would change my world
 'Cause when I called your home
 A whispered conversation I overheard
 I asked you what was going on
 You said that I'd been gone too long
 And the rain that fell in West Berlin
 Was nothing like the rain that fell within
 Out of sight and out of mind
 Oh, Regine, here am I so far away
 Out of sight, out of mind
 Love has gone but I will shine day after day
 I will take what love I find
 So I made some other plans
 Took my life in these two hands
 And I know I won't turn around
 Though I often see your face
 When I'm in a crowded place
 It doesn't get me down
 I met a girl with smiling eyes
 Full of love and worldly wise
 She told me she knows what to do
 To help me put the memories of you
 Out of sight and out of mind

[Unverified]