

Disappointment

Frenzal Rhomb

I can see the pain in your eyes it's hard to comprehend your way of life don't think I'm a failure at something I haven't done yet I'd be like you if I needed to I know that you want me to be happy as long as that happiness coincides with your stylised distortions of my values and a work ethic that no longer applies disappointment
can't you understand this is our time it's not a phase we're getting on just fine it's easier to talk about redemption than questionable backwards moral lines it might just be academic pretensions or justifying when to fantasise yeah yeah that's right kiddies stick it to the man
