Envision

Schulz

He tries to see, although he can't
He tries, but doesn't understand
He calls on a different phone line
No one that he knowsAn out of focus acquaintance
Speaking in a silent parlance
Remember me, breaks the silence
A recurring line againHe's looking for something
Can't see that he's stranded
He's just moving somewhere
He just can't stand this feeling no more, no moreHe's looking for something
Can't see that he's stranded
He's just moving somewhere
He just can't stand this feeling no more, no moreHe feels the blood run through his veins
Tries to get up, be young again
His face in the bathroom mirror
Someone looks at himHis undisputed kind of self-love
Weaker than it used to be like
Don't forget me, breaks the silence
A different life beginsHe's looking for something
Can't see that he's stranded
He's just moving somewhere
He just can't stand this feeling no more, no moreHe's looking for something
Can't see that he's stranded
He's just moving somewhere
He just can't stand this feeling no more, no moreLooks in the mirror, feels the snag
Packs his bag and picks a map
Don't forget me, seems inapt
He doesn't want to knowDon't forget me
Don't forget me
Don't forget me
Don't forget meHe's looking for something
Can't see that he's stranded
He's just moving somewhere
He just can't stand this feeling no more, no moreHe's waiting for something
Becoming a vision
He's just going somewhere
He just can't stand this feeling no more, no moreOh, no no more
Oh, no no more
Oh, no no more

Oh, no no more
