

"5150"

Van Halen

The love line is never straight and narrow
Unless your love is tried and true
We take a chance with new beginnings
Still we try, win or lose, take the highs with the blues
Always one more, you're never satisfied
Never one for all with you, it's only one for me
Oh, why draw the line? Meet you half the way
And you don't know what that means, oh, yeah
I feel like a running politician
Oh! Just tryin' to please you all the time
I've given you my self with no conditions
Goin' wide, runnin' long, feelin' lost but not for long
Always one more, you're never satisfied
Never one for all with you, it's only one for me
So, why draw the line? Meet you half the way
When you don't know what that means, whoa, yeah
Always one more, you're never satisfied
Never for all with you, it's only one for me
So, why draw the line? Meet you half the way
When you don't know what that means
I'll meet you half the way, whoa yeah
I'll meet you half the way, whoa
I'll meet you half the way
