

Shedding Season

The Freeze

Sick split look through strange new eyes
I'm turning into something I don't recognize

Without a past

Without memory

Now quick switch focus on a world I know
I'm staring in the mirror Where'd the hours go
It feels like something's growing inside me
That I can't see

When I sleep the truth comes awake

My chain of personality breaks

The more they absorb the less I see

I've got company

Living inside me

Static interference I can't decode

Pushes my existence into overload

What I was becomes a dream

New growth breaks from its skin disguise

Voices keep calling from behind my eyes

Random thoughts can't seem to please

What's inside me

When I sleep the truth comes awake

My chain of personality breaks

The more they absorb the less I see

My enemy

Living inside me

When I sleep the truth comes awake

My chain of personality breaks

The more they absorb the less I see

My enemy

Living inside

Growing inside Me

Living inside me

(Living inside me)

Living inside me

(Living inside me)

Living inside me
(Living inside me)
Living inside me
(Living inside me)
Living inside me
(Living inside me)
Living inside me
(Living inside me)

b-back when I was a little boy they used call out to me
