7 Layers

Dotan

If I never had to catch that train
If nobody would have called my name
If you'd never, would I have ever find outYou had questions and you knew names
Hidden secrets a-length in change
Wrapped in circles locked in squaresChorus:
I was a stranger in my own skin
7 layers grace and wearing thin
I was a stranger in my own skin
7 layers I've been hiding inFathers' eyes and my fathers' smile
I couldn't tell I was just a child
Missing memories replaced by doubtsSpeaking thoughts into my ears told herself what she had to hear but did she ever think I'd never find outChorus:
I was a stranger in my own skin
7 layers grace and wearing thin
I was a stranger in my own skin
The 7 layers I've been hiding inSpinning round and round in circles
Time to light the followup stream
Running around in all your secrets
One by one unravelingChorus:
I was a stranger in my own skin
7 layers grace, and wearing thin
I was a stranger in my own skin
The 7 layers I've been hiding inOoohh ooohhChorus:
I was a stranger in my own skin
7 layers I've been hiding in
