

Same God

Richard Smallwood

This mountain looming so large in front of me
Can't climb it, how I'll get over I just can't see
But remember how you delivered in times before
For You're the same yesterday, today and forever more
This mountain seems insurmountable
My mind says I don't think I can get through the pain
But I'm reminded of what you have done before
And I know that you're gonna do it again
You just keep on proving Yourself
Over, over, and over again
And the fact that You'll never change
Makes me know that
You're gonna do it again
You're the same God
