Rhyme and Reason

Rikard SjÃ¶blom

Wake up, but this day is cold
It's so strange that's happening again
Our silence woke the beast
Thousands, thought dead
Are marching again
A cycle of hate
Stupid is the human race
Our silence woke the beast

Slow down and open your mind - know yourself
Stand up and look at the world - are you still breathing?
Stand up, just because you can

GIVE UP!
YOU KNOW THAT FEAR IS THE REASON
NO ONE OWNS THE WATER, NO ONE OWNS THE LAND
Are they getting to you
In a foreign tounge that scares you?
Are they targeting you?
In your native tounge they scare you
AND LOVE IS THE KEY

Where are the lines
You showed me on your map
There's no gap between here and there
Why do you let the weakest ones strike you with fear
Thousand, thought dead
Are marching again
A cycle of hate
The echoes of fate
Our silence woke the beast again

No one owns the water
No one owns the land
This place is for every single one
Don't clench your fist, lend a hand

You know that fear is the reason
That's how they get to you
In a foreign tounge they scare you

And they don't need any proof
Because you are the human target
Of your fellow countrymen
Who forgot that love is the key
So turn off that TV, you gotta open your eyes
To really see
Someday I hope you realize
All of their beliefs are lies
Because hate is never the answer
Why can't we ever learn
No matter how many cities that burn
No matter how many people that die
No matter how many tears we cry
Now is the time, now is the time to TRY
Try harder, try again
To love one another
To finally be free
