Days of New

Lagwagon

The days are full of storybook romance the myriad of thoughtful acts
A million ways I'm into you
I'm never getting over you
I'm sorry for exposing you
I know you hate it when I do
But I had to write one for my better halfThe days are new, the nights unwind
You break my world, you change my mind
Run out of love, come down from life
Run out of pain, my life has changedIt's obvious it's all been said in cheesy poems and chick flicks
The mushy shit that people say, it makes us chuckle everyday
So how can I express to you the recent dramas we've been through
I wouldn't have been fine without your helpThe days are new, the nights unwind
You touch my world, you change my life
Run out of love, run out of life
Come down from hate, the world has changedBut we may never have met if it weren't for him
Hey Derrick, maybe somehow you're listeningToday's mantra is gratitude
You changed my life
I'm sure you knew
I'll never forget the words that you said
The life that you lead
I'll never forget, I'll never forget

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/