

Trying to Matter

Gary Allan

We walk, we fly
We stay sober, we get high
We sleep all day, stay up all night
Right or wrong, we live our lives We work, we play
We leave and we stay
Worry 'bout tomorrow today
We laugh, cry, cuss and pray Trying to matter to somebody
Trying to get the time of day
Trying to fit into this crazy world
Somehow, somewhere, someway Hey, that's all we're all looking for
It's never too late you know
To try and matter to
The ones that matter most I've lived, I've learned
That bridges don't just burn
That's the devil's selfish pride at work
Every chance he gets he'll take his turn Trying to matter to somebody
Trying to get the time of day
Trying to fit into this crazy world
Somehow, somewhere, someway Hey, that's all we're all looking for
It's never too late you know
To try and matter to
The ones that matter most Trying to matter to somebody
Trying to get the time of day
Trying to fit into this crazy world
Somehow, somewhere, someway Hey, that's all we're all looking for
It's never too late you know
To try and matter to
The ones that matter most Its never too late you know
Trying to matter to somebody
