

Eye of a Hurricane

Kyle Craft

Well you sleep in late but she's up and out the window
Said nothing's gonna carry you to get where the wind blows
Sometimes, she wakes up in the middle of the night cries acid rain
She tried, to ride the fence of falling in love and going insane Oh, she took you, you were terrified
You're locked in man, your hands were tied
She leaned in just to crush your heart
She plays it cool till the music starts then she's wild
She goes wild
Ahooo Her mother was a demon but her daddy was the devil
She fed scraps to a six headed hound at the table
Then you charmed and I was blown away the skin in the skies of a mortal man
And darling I, I know I can't take the fire but I can take your hand Then she burned you And whispered: Come back when my daddy's gone
We'll kiss down in the catacombs
You knew then that you had to go
Her kiss was sweet her curse was cold and you tried Yeah you tried
And you still try Oh, she took you, you were terrified
You're locked in man, you're in her sights
She leaned in when the music stopped
She hit the street when the curtain dropped, you went wild
You went wild
