City By the Sea

Terminal

I'm a thousand miles from home
Sleeping in my clothes
Living like I've never have beforeWhen the city falls into the sea
I try and make myself believe
That I matter here but I'm only losing sleepIf only I could feel less indifferent
Then maybe I could be more existent
I'm dreaming hopelesslyIn a city by the sea
It's taken me so long
To sing a simple song
I don't belongOn the rooftop, late at night
Writing songs about my life
Praying, day will break before I close my eyesI wish I had a little more to miss
Than friends that don't exist
And the town that felt like scars across my wristIf only I could feel less indifferent
Then maybe I could be more existent
I'm dreaming hopelesslyIn a city by the sea
It's taken me so long
To sing a simple song
I don't belongIf only I could feel (Less indifferent)
If only I could feel (Less indifferent)I'm dreaming hopelessly
In a city by the sea
It's taken me so long
To sing a simple songI don't belong
I don't belong
I don't belong

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/