The Mast

Feist

Found a place where I can be
All the things I want you to see
Take my hand into your hands
'Cause I come to you from another land
And I don't need to know your favorite artist's name
And I don't need to know what woman's felt the same
And I don't need to see you every single day
But I'd like to Break my heart back into place
'Cause I've come to understand you more lately
And I've found a man inside your chest
Some will tear him up and I'll lay him some rest
Rest
And I don't need to know the details of your past
And I don't need to know when you thought of me last
And I would have to say if I'm the sail then you're the mast
And we've caught a good wind, the mast
Because you know me more than any before
'Cause you found the clues between me and you
You know me more than any before
'Cause you found the clues between me and you
