Origin

The Nova Echo

this subtraction showing if ever the waters are rushing around the first light pull me down behind the sound automation, cannon like thunderous energy bombing up the black light from within like a sin

there's nothing left in this soul but a void that pushes you away (never returning again)

did you know I never wanted you to say goodbye (never returning again) all I know, you are the only one I need to bring back to the origin and when the sun comes down her world replaces everything I know it's not for me but it feels alright

Thought reduction, particles separate to retain the isolation of you simple minds for complex times Desecration, open the prism release the spectrum let division begin until our lungs give in

Did you watch as the world disappeared in the smoke
You look back and you try not to choke but it passed you by Lyrics submitted by Kayce.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/