

Ghost

Extreme

Tell me theres no need to be afraid
Theyre only shadows cast, past this place
Where voices carry at the speed of sound
If I should cry before they lay me down I'm sorry for the words, words I left unsaid
Sorry being one of the words I did forget
All the time we spent, wasted in the end
Every precious moment taken for granted There in the corner of my mind
Lies the weight of my regret
Between the shadow and the light
Ghost youre in my head Shelter from the storm when I'd sleep
Theres comfort in the morn, a siren sings
If only for a moment I can breathe
The thought of you comes crashing through on me I'm sorry for the words, words I left unsaid
Sorry being one of the words I did forget
All the time we spent, wasted in the end
Every precious moment taken for granted There in the corner of my mind
Lies the weight of my regret
Between the shadow and the light
Ghost youre in my head
Ghost youre in my head Tell me theres no need to be afraid
Theyre only shadows cast, past has played
Where voices carry at the speed of sound
If I should die before I lay me down Yeah, you know Im sorry for the way, way I treated you
A little bit too late, but if you only knew
I'd take away the pain, pain I put you through
And do it all again walking in your shoes There in the corner of my mind
Lies the weight of my regret
Between the shadow and the light
Ghost youre in my head
Ghost youre in my head
