Between The Lines

Julie Walters

I caught a glimpse of past and future
But I did not understand
Darkness and light, blindness and sight
Not everything is so black and white
Separate the truth from lies
With the stories written between the lines
Only you can tell the wrong from right
The more you look, the more you find
Close your eyes and drift away
Where the lights are taking you, no one can say
In the depths of the your mind
Looking for a sign written in between the lines
With canyons stretched below us
The stars will be our guild
We'll tear the mountains from the sea
And fall into the sky
We'll drift into the airwaves
Between the earth and moon
Where satellites are sending visions
Down into your room
Separate the truth from lies
With the stories written between the lines
Only you can tell the wrong from right
The more you look, the more you find
Close your eyes and drift away
Where the lights are taking you, no one can say
In the depths of the your mind
Looking for a sign written in between the lines
The world is very different now
For man holds in his mortal hands
The power to abolish
All forms of human poverty
And all forms of human life
Separate the truth from lies
With the stories written between the lines
Only you can tell the wrong from right
The more you look, the more you find
Close your eyes and drift away
Where the lights are taking you, no one can say

In the depths of the your mind
Looking for a sign written in between the lines
Written in between the lines
Written in between the lines
Written in between the lines
