Going Under

Michael Paynter

I'm talking to a stranger
I'm staring at a ghost trying to see through the cracks in the mask that you're putting on it's hard to see how we're so deep downwhen we were walking on water for so long
I didn't notice the waves crashing over
I thought we were sailing somewhere when did we start going underI'm drowning in the silence I need to breathe so know gotta reach out for something to pull us away from here if we can get back up to the surface maybe it would be likewe were walking on water for so long
I didn't notice the waves crashing over
when did we start going undercause you made me wanna fight cause I found something I believe in you made me who I am it's so hard to see how we're so deep downwhen we were walking on water for so long
I didn't notice the waves crashing over
when did we start going under
I didn't notice the waves crashing over
