

Half the Time

Peter Mulvey

Half the time you do not listen, half the time you have your Head in the sand, your heart in your hand and you
Have the time to ask the questions, then you walk out on the answers
But I swear to you that one day you will understand
You will understand
If you have the time to hold the hand of the one who comes from the land
Where your heart is true to her and you
Will begin to see the sunrise, and the light that is in her eyes
And I swear to you that one day, you will understand
You will understand
Half the time I say I love you all I mean is that I want to be the man
That you hold in the hand of your heart
If you carry me forever, if we part we'll be together
And I swear to you that one day I will understand
You will understand

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>