Caught In The Moment

Default

When I was waiting for you just don't think I ever knew
I was out there all alone now every breath I breathe for you
If you fall you know you can just reach out and take my hand
Give to me the weight of your world I'll carry it for you
Something's just have to start
Don't ever say it's your fault
My son it's not what I wanted
Got tired of falling
This road that I'm running
It would lead me back to you
Time I thought that was stolen
Got caught in a moment
That moment brought me you
I didn't want u to see what was never meant to be
These old mistakes I can't erase won't come between you and me
I know I'm sometimes hard to find I'm never leaving you behind
Maybe miles away but you should know you're always on my mind
Something's just have to start
Don't ever say it's your fault
My son it's not what I wanted
Got tired of falling
This road that I'm running
It would lead me back to you
Time I thought that was stolen
Got caught in a moment
The moment brought me you

The moment brought me laughter in the storm
A love that can't be torn
And it all started with you
And I see you're the reason I'm here
The reason so clear
It's the moment of truth
This moment brought me you
I got caught in a moment
That moment brought me you
That moment brought me you
My son it's not what I wanted
Got tired of falling

This road that I'm running
It would lead me back to you
Time I thought that was stolen
Got caught in a moment
That moment brought me u
Moment brought me you
My son it's not what I wanted
Got tired of falling
That moment brought me you
Moment brought me you
Time I thought that was stolen
Got caught in a moment
That moment brought me you
That moment brought me you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/