One More Time

Joe Jackson

You tell me one more time as I hold your hand, that you don't love me
You tell me one more time as teardrops start to fall
Shout it to me and I'll shout it to the skies above me
That there was nothing after allBaby, baby, tell me that you never wanted my loving
Baby, baby, tell me that you never, tell me, tell me
One more time, one more time, say you're leavin', say goodbye
One more time, one more time, say you're leavin', say goodbyeYou tell me one more time that we never had a thing in common
You tell me one more time as you turn and face the wall
You tell me I should know you never were my kind of woman
You tell me we were fools to fallBaby, baby, tell me that you never wanted my loving
Baby, baby, tell me that you never, tell me, tell me
One more time, one more time, say you're leavin', say goodbye
One more time, one more time, say you're leavin', say goodbyeTell me one more time your tears are only sad confusion
Now tell me it's just been so long and that is all
Tell me one more time that love was only my illusion
You never answered to my callBaby, baby, tell me that you never wanted my loving
Baby, baby, tell me that you never, tell me, tell me
One more time, one more time, say you're leavin', say goodbye
One more time, one more time, say you're leavin', say goodbyeOne more time, one more time, say you're leavin', say goodbye
One more time
