

I'll Come Back and Love You Forever

Morten Abel

How many times my lover
can you stand on your heel
By the foot of a mountain
And scream
"I know just how you feel"

Just how many times my lover
can you stand on your heel
I know just how you feel
It's all gonna be all right tomorrow

I saw a north satellite was like the loneliest soul but for NASA it's common
it's all gonna be all right tomorrow

You should use a lifeline

I try to crack her up
So bad that you can't stop
it's all gonna be all right tomorrow

So you say you've fought and lost a war
Oh yeah you live by the sword
And if you live by the sword
You might as well be dead tomorrow
So you're sailing your boat
And didn't see the big wave come
And you fall overboard
And the chances for you to survive
Are very very small

You should use a lifeline

I try to crack her up
it's all gonna be all right tomorrow
I try to crack her up

I try to make her laugh
So bad that you can't stop
I try to make her fly
