

Hushabye

Kris Delmhorst

There was a time I sang to you
There was a time you were singing too
And every word that we sang was true, it was true
Now leaves come down in Union Square
Sparrows fly through the dirty air
And I could look for you anywhere, you're not there, you're not there So hushabye hushabye
Hushabye now Making all our days by hand
Regular folks didn't understand
With the pie in the sky and the lines in the sand
Long past the curtain call
Devotion & doubt and the wrecking ball
But all of that sound couldn't hold up the walls not at all, at all
So hushabye hushabye
Hushabye now
You know and I know
And you know and I know
And you know and I know
We don't have to bury it, we just have to sing it to sleep There was a time I sang to you
There was a time you were singing too
And every word that we sang was true
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>