

Can't You See

America

Written by dan peek, ©1976
Found on hideaway and highway. Alone, sitting here on my own
There's no place I'd rather be
Or so it seems Home, miles away from home
And there's no place I'd rather be
Can't you see? You hold your life in your hands
And no one takes from a man
Who gives the best that he can
To make someone understand I've flown miles away from home
And there's no place I'd rather be
Can't you see? You hold your life in your hands
And no one takes from a man
Who gives the best that he can
To make someone understand Home, miles away from home
And there's no place I'd rather be
Can't you see, can't you see, can't you see?
Can't you see, can't you see, can't you see?
Can't you see, can't you see, can't you see?

Songwriters

PEEK, DANIEL M. Published by

Lyrics © Warner/Chappell Music, Inc. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>