

Swan Dive (Live & Acoustic)

Sister Hazel

Would you think I was crazy
If I stripped on down to my skin or Would you think I was free as a bee
C'mon tell me, tell me,
Tell the truth now
Would you think you could meditate
In the middle of the eye of a hurricane
Would you now but somehow
If we were tethered here together
We could weather out the weather here Oh yeah I might be crazy,
But that's not the same as insane
And I'm scared,
But that's not the same as being afraid If I throw myself over the edge
If I find myself in over my head
If I shatter from the fall and I lose
I'd still want to swan dive, into you So tell me now what you're thinking
A Lincoln for your thoughts
Or a dollar for them all yeah
Well I can take the truth,
No I can't, yes I can Tell me we were meant
To be, a happy accident
Would you cry if I said it
Would you get it if I told you
That I want you and I need you
Aw that wouldn't say enough
Hell I love you
How 'bout that yeah Oh yeah I might be crazy,
But that's not the same as insane
And I'm scared,
But that's not the same as being afraid If I throw myself over the edge
If I find myself in over my head
If I shatter from the fall and I lose
I'd still want to swan dive, into you Oh yeah I might be crazy,
But that's not the same as insane
And I'm scared,
But that's not the same as being afraid If I throw myself over the edge
If I find myself in over my head
If I shatter from the fall and I lose

I'd still want to swan dive, into you
If I throw myself over the edge
If I find myself in over my head
If I shatter from the fall and I lose
I'd still want to swan dive, into you.

Songwriters

SILLERS/BLOCK/NEWELL/BERES

Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC, Universal Music Publishing Group
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>