More Than a Woman

Calvin Richardson

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

ListenLooking back, reminiscing on Caught a brother doing bad, and you put me on You told me not to be ashamed of what I got Never mind them hatin' niggas up and down the block, babe
You held it down and the bills got paid
She said, "Go ahead baby, do your singin' thing
And when God blesses us I want a Lexus
With a hide away mansion in the Hamptons"Girl you must have lost your way from heaven
Could it be for me you came so far
There is nothing like the honor of every woman
You're the very beat inside my heart
Girl your like a star I feel so high,
Shining like a diamond in outer space
Girl your like my mother, my sister, my lover
Irreplaceable, nothing can take your placeYou're the blood in my veins, you're the air I breathe
On a hot summer day your like a shirt with no sleeves
What makes me a man, any fool could see
You're more then a woman to meGirl if you take that back, there would be no cure
I would sail there forever, like a ship with no shore
What makes me a man, any fool can see
You're more then a woman to meLook at us, living luxury
And I been thinking maybe we should start a family
A girl for you, and a boy for me
Matching stones separate guests, would you marry me
And if you'd have me I'd gladly give my life
Today I'd take this vow to make you my wife
Nothing temporary you know its quite contrary
Just you and me for an eternityGirl you must have lost your way from heaven
Could it be for me you came so far
There is nothing like the honor of every woman
You're the very beat inside my heart
Girl your like a star I feel so high

Shining like a diamond in outer space
Girl your like my mother, my sister, my lover
Irreplaceable, nothing can take your placeYou're the blood in my veins, you're the air I breathe
On a hot summer day your like a shirt with no sleeves
What makes me a man, any fool could see
You're more then a woman to meGirl if you take that back, there would be no cure
I would sail there forever, like a ship with no shore
What makes me a man, any fool can see
You're more then a woman to me

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/