The Path

Thunderstone

Information overload, rays are melting down
What is right and what is wrong
Who really owns the crown
Too many words of faith cover up the truth in liesConfusion, delusion, the devil in the skies
Under your bed he'll grow and deep asleep you'll fall
See the path the morning rain, that makes you feel alive
See the path, the shining light, your power to surviveYou will always find your way back to your home
This is the path you'll always roam
You're lost but you'll never know, now it's time to choose your side
There's the one with the glowing eyes, don't you dare to trust his liesYou'll find the right solution by listening to your heart
Decisions, your vision will make you devout
Under your bed he'll grow and deep asleep you'll fall
See the path the morning rain, that makes you feel alive
See the path, the shining light, your power to surviveYou will always find, your way back to your home
This is the path you'll always roam, you'll roam
Under your bed he'll grow and deep asleep you'll fall
See the path the morning rain, that makes you feel aliveSee the path, the shining light, your power to survive
You will always find, your way back to your home
This is the path you'll always roam, you'll roam, you'll roam!

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/