

Last Conversation (feat. Focus...)

The Sonix

Intro I never thought I'd see the day that you'd be gone
And without you every day just seems so long
I'm tryna find a way to get through this and carry on
But, I'm not over you Verse 1 Na Now hear me out, I know you're upset
And tired of hearin' 'bout my regrets
And tired of hearin' how it aint love, it was just sex
And just cos, and nothin' comes next
No Rhyme or reason, cos you're a good woman
And I went and did it, when I knew I shouldn't shhh I don't expect nothin' from ya
I've been dumb before but what I did was way dumber, I'm sorry Chorus And I wish that I could take it away
But there's nothing that's gon' change it today
Girl it looks like there's nothin' left to say
I hate this is our last conversation Verse 2 I wish this was a game, I'd reset
It's real life, aint no start select Aint no code to use, to change the damage left
Aint no special power to erase the ill effects
Don't matter if we forgive we never forget
The more that we try to live the more the regret
I know that we are more than I'd ever expect
I'm knowin' that what we had was more than the sex
You're more than a woman, I'm less than a man
To ask your forgiveness, while knowin' you can't
Is more than just foolish, it's selfish as well
I'm sore at this losin', it's lonely as hell
I'm more than bewildered, I'm under your spell
I Wish I could see you instead of callin' your cell
Are you even listenin'? are you even there?
Have you heard a word I said? do you even care? Damn... Chorus And I wish that I could take it away
But there's nothing that's gon' change it today
Girl it looks like there's nothin' left to say
I hate this is our last conversation

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>