

Why Do I Cry for Joey?

Connie Stevens

You do it for him
And you would do it again
You do it for her, that is to say
You'll do it for him
Keep your stance wide
Keep your body lowered
As you're moving forward
Balance is the key
Right foot; left foot
Now go even faster
And as you're moving backwards
Keep your eyes on me keep my stance wide (good)
Keep my body lowered (right)
As I'm moving forward concentrate! don't you want him to live!?
yes, but put your whole body into it!
Everything you have, everything you are You've got to give
On the battlefield
When everything is chaos
And you have nothing but the way you feel your strategy and a sword
You just think about the life you'll have together after the war
And then you do it for her
That's how you know you can win
You do it for her, that is to say
You'll do it for him
Deep down you know
You weren't built for fighting
But that doesn't mean
You're not prepared to try
What they don't know
Is your real advantage
When you live for someone You're prepared to die deep down I know
That I'm just a human (true)
But I know that I can draw my sword and fight

With my short existence (good)
I can make a difference (yes, excellent!)
I can be there for him
I can be his knight
I can do it for him
you do it for her okay, now do that again
You do it for her, and now you say:
I'll do it for him
