No Name

Motograter

I'm writing a letter to say
That I'm leaving you leaving you
It's always been hard to maintain
No one believed when they needed toWell sometimes somethings are better left alone
And when the seasons change
The sun may shine but the darkness will remain
And should my reasons swayThey'll bury me with no name
I've still got the picture you framed
There's only memories memories
I'm finding it hard to explainI don't feel anything anything
Well sometimes somethings are better left alone
And when the seasons change
The sun may shine but the darkness will remainAnd should my reasons sway
They'll bury me with no name
I was reminded of you today
So I've written this out to sayThat sometimes somethings are better left alone
And when the seasons change
The sun may shine but the darkness will remain
And should my reasons sway
They'll bury me with no name
