Your Shadow

June

Believe, I try
To see your eyes and understand it
Here comes a time when, baby, I will call you mine
Oh, maybe one day, but until that dayI try and try To turn away from my own take
But another day, another minor mistake
One day, I'm just waitingOh, your shadow, oh, your shadow
Makes me feel within, the room begins to spin
I've got to leave, I have to, I just can't shake it
This feeling overwhelming covers my skinThese words are true, the city would not lose its view
And forget the sense of me and you, but Ive got to quit, Ive got to quit, oh, Ill admit
I just can't hold on to any thought ofOh, your shadow, oh, your shadow
Makes me feel within, the room begins to spin
I've got to leave, I have to, I just can't shake it
This feeling overwhelming covers my skinI hear you coming, hear you coming, you walk inside
The room goes dark and our eyes collide
My drink is spilled and my body feels numbness
I can't stand it, I don't know whyAnother minute, another minute of not having you
This I had to refuseOh, your shadow, oh, your shadow
Makes me feel within, the room begins to spin
I've got to leave, I have to, I just can't shake it
This feeling overwhelming covers my skin

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/