Job for a Cowboy

An incision leads to the future of the new world

 A mark buried deep under the skin and flesh

 Will divide and distinguish man

Signatures implanted on the hands and forehead

 Re occurrence of modern times and scriptures

 Testament to holy doctrines written in vital blood

 In the extent all will hold something very similarly

And accordingly all will bear his name

 With the distinct and original number of his signature

 In a new world with suppressing technology

 Lacerations lead to codes embedded in blood

Streams beneath the flesh

 Currencies fuse together to form a solitary

 And overruling capital

 Money evolves into cryptic letters and numbers

That flow through the net

 A conflagration set to diminish papered riches

 Depleting its masterdom

 No longer capable of enslaving the likes of human kind

From only presenting itself as a form of an object

 Fragments of ash flow through the atmospheres currents

 Onlookers breathe and inhale what they once worshiped

 The demons solution, a new world order
