

Let Her Go

Craig David

You were her only girl
The most precious thing in her world
And I know it makes you cry
That you never got to say goodbye You were just running out of time
To say what was on your mind
You never wanted her to leave
And mom I know it makes you grief But why don't you celebrate the moments that you shared yeah
'cause now she's watching over you
It's true
And you know it too [Chorus]
Just let her go
If you can't take the pain
Of a broken heart
Just let her go I know it feels as though hope is gone
And it hurts to think of moving on
But she'd never want to see you sad
Even though I know this hurts so bad Devoted a life to you
And helped raise the grandson too
And now I hope you realize
That I'll always be there by your side But why don't we celebrate the moments that we shared yeah
'cause now she's watching over you
It's true
And you know it too [Chorus] You never knew how much she tried to fight it
And when you needed her around she'd be there
But you can reassure yourself that she's at ease
And that's why it's time for you
To [Chorus] If you can't take the pain
Of a broken heart
Just let her go (just let her go, let her go) If you can't take the pain
Of a broken heart
Just let her go (just let her go, let her go) If you can't take the pain
