

Off the Wagon

Good Riddance

i want to know what brought you down wasn't anyone there when the madness came around was it all too much for you did they tell you what to do doesn't that phone weigh a ton or two but you can try once more you've got support you can learn to trust i know it's hard throw the crutch away throw it away now your heart is full of blame and in a town this small you can't escape the shame because you've had too much to drink and you swear this time you're done because it's stopped being any fun.
