Pieces

The Imperials

Pieces...pieces
So many pieces to my life
Scattered all around and some of them are gone
And I know that I can't ever put them back together again

Pieces...pieces
So many pieces to my life
A puzzle left unfinished, jumbled and unformed
Who can really ever fit it all together again

In a vision like a daydream that filters through your mind
I saw Jesus coming closer, holding all my hopes combined
He spoke with great compassion as He put one hand me
And in His other hand He held what I could never see

He said pieces....pieces
I've got all the pieces to your life
A thousand tiny fragments of every single day
I can put them all together and there'll never be another one who can

He said pieces...He said pieces
I've got all the pieces to your life
In my hold the pieces of every single day
I can put them all together so they'll never fall away
I can put them all together and there'll never be another one who can
