I Don't Know All I Know

Admiral Twin

I don't know what I'm supposed to feel all I know is that these feelings keep on haunting me.
I don't feel what I'm supposed to know but my thoughts are plagued by old memories.
All I know is that forever is a sacrifice endeavor into people, into places sharing complicated spaces.
When the smiling, happy faces go away there will still be a happiness we feel Together.
When I'm with you, I like the things I see.
All the innocence, the beauty there is holding me to a hope that I could be with you that our joys would be aplenty and our sorrows few I have learned a few things from my past and I know someday I'll find a love that's going to last.
Hold me now and tell me you're the one that I'll love now and forever until time is done

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/