Running The Risk

Foreigner

Seeing you
Watching you, watching me
I hold back my emotions
I keep them veiled in secrecy
Can't let go of this thing we've started
Wasn't looking for love
No conspiracy of the broken hearted
I don't know how far to go
Until I'm gone, gone, gone
I couldn't see the danger
It was just a little taste of temptation
I could not read the silence
That was written on your face
But here comes that feeling again
And there's nothing more I can do
I keep running the risk of losing you
There's nothing more I can say
I'm still running the risk of you walking away
I'm lost drowning in a sea of emotion
I got one simple need
I need you to feel my devotion
I don't know how far to go
Until I'm gone, yeah gone
It's a complicated picture
I'm all tangled up in temptation
I couldn't read the silence
That was written on your face
But here comes that feeling again
And there's nothing more I can do
I keep running the risk of losing you
There's nothing more I can say
I'm still running the risk of you walking away
I'm running the risk of losing you
I'm walking this tightrope, you're my only hope
There's nothing more I can do
I keep running the risk of losing you
Losing you
And now there's nothing more I can do
I keep running the risk of losing you

There's nothing more I can say
I'm still running the risk of you walking away
I'm running the risk of losing you
I'm walking this tightrope, darling, you're my only hope
There's nothing more I can do
I keep running the risk of losing you
I'm running the risk of losing you
I'm telling you honey, this heart of mine
Can't run the risk of losing you again
I've done everything, one man can do
I'm still running the risk of losing you
