World Weary Eyes

Arid

You should have seen her
All her days are all filled with tears
You should have seen her
Touch her greatest fearYou should have seen her stumble and fall
You should have seen
You should have seen her out on the wire once again
You should have seen her missing out on every chanceOh, the wall and the wicked
And the storm in her mind
And the fire, oh baby
Shes dying sometimesShes gone a leaving it
To the others to sort it all out
And the fire, oh baby
I want you to be now
I want you to be nowYou will see when things chance
Shell soon fled the town
You will see theres someone
Holding her downYoull see her, shes the object
Of a sickened kind of love
You will see her nights end in pieces, once again
You will see her missing out on every chanceOh, the wall and the wicked
And the storm in her mind
And the fire, oh baby
Shes dying sometimesShes gone a leaving it
To the others to sort it all out
And the fire, oh babyI want you to be now whoever you want
See now whatever you want
And the world is turning
Day by day like you away from meAnd oh, your world weary eyes
Oh, your world weary eyes
And oh, should I fall into your trap again
Or should we just stay friends

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/