And I Remember Every Kiss

Jens Lekman

There will be no kisses tonight There will be no holding hands tonight Cause what is now wasn't there before And should not be I know I've broken some hearts, I understand Some firecrackers blow up in your hand Oh I fked up, I've always tried to be trueBut I would never kiss anyone Who doesn't burn me like the sun And I remember every kiss Like my first kiss Like my first kissWhen I think back on that night It was lovely Vital aching In your dad's 240 But I would like to keep the memory Of that kiss as it is Things get more complicated when you're older Before you know it you are somebody's soldier You get a gun and you name it After a girlfriendBut I swear I'll never kiss anyone Who doesn't burn me like the sun And I will cherish every kiss
