

Man Of 1000 Tics

Millencolin

I'll interrupt you again and again
I'll imitate and mimic your accent
When playing games I have just got to win
I can name every street in Berlin... at least well-nigh I'm the man of a thousand tics
You never know what I'll pull out of my bag of tricks
I'm not sure where it's coming from
All I know is that it sure makes me look dumb I've got the jitters and the shifty eyes
I'm making sounds without knowing why
I can't tell how I got these symptoms
If it's lead singer or maybe tourettes syndrome...
It won't let go. I'm the man of a thousand tics
You never know what I'll pull out of my bag of tricks
I'm not sure where it's coming from
All I know is that it sure makes me look dumb
Be aware for what I have in store
Be aware from where it's coming there's coming more
I'm the man of a thousand tics
I'm in a state where I just cannot be fixed Environmental or genetic cause?
Just want to know the nature of these flaws
Can it be a combination of them both?
I'm kind of worried about it's rate of growth
Oh, doc find me a cure somehow
For this chemical imbalance now
I know these complex tics
Are too heavy for an easy fix Be aware from where it's coming there's coming more
I'm the man of a thousand tics
I'm in a state where I just cannot be fixed
