

Hurricane

Theory Of A Deadman

I should have know these walls would cave in
Should have never left my heart there on the line
'Cause when the shit hit the fan
All we ever had ended up lost in the fire

And now nothing's saved, nothing's caned
Was it all in vain?
'Cause I'm standing in the eye of the storm
And everything I've known is blowing away

I'm caught in a hurricane
I'm leaving here dead or alive
And I know that I'd be willing to feel the pain
If it got me to the other side
'Cause it only hurts, hurricane
Yeah, I can feel it hurt, hurricane

Remember how we were, we really were Before this disaster came and tore us apart
It was the two of us, that was enough
The two of us, so in love

Till the wind blew high,
The wind of cry and lightning strikes
And now we're standing in the eye of the storm
And everything is gone, nothing remains

I'm caught in a hurricane
I'm leaving here dead or alive
And I know that I'd be willing to feel the pain
If it got me to the other side
'Cause it only hurts, hurricane
Yeah, I can feel it hurt, hurricane

I never thought it would end
You'll never understand
How we learn in the end
Like this

I'm caught in a hurricane

I'm leaving here dead or alive
And I know that I'd be willing to feel the pain
If it got me to the other side
'Cause it only hurts, hurricane
Yeah, I can feel it hurt, hurricane

Hurts, hurricane
Hurts, hurricane

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com

written by CONNOLLY, TYLER PATRICK/BACK, DEAN HENNING/BRENNER, DAVID J./DIOGUARDI, KARA

Lyrics Â© Warner/Chappell Music, Inc.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>