

Demolition (Shepherds Bush live)

Patrick Wolf

Since I met you. this house has started to decay And every wall that once was clean. has turned a shade of grey. So much to rescue. so much you just can't understand
Now the streets are dark and empty. and the problems in our hands. I can't leave you. see back home my house is falling down.
I can't leave you. and back home my house is falling down Since I met you. my basement has started to bleed
The floors are all collapsing. still I'm begging to be free
