Time Has to Come

Daniel Antopolsky

Time has to come, oh when all will change
Free your mind, oh be prepared to rearrange
I donâ€™t need you, I donâ€™t need you
But Iâ€™m askinâ€™ you to stay, donâ€™t go away

Beinâ€™ without you, it weighs heavy on my mind
I keep delvinâ€™ in my memory
I canâ€™t grasp what Iâ€™m tryinâ€™ to find
I can hear you, but I canâ€™t touch you
Still youâ€™re with me all the time, oh yeah yeah
I can hear you, but I canâ€™t touch you
Still youâ€™re with me all the time, oh yes you are

Take my mind in concert, oh with the Universal song
Just beinâ€™ progessinâ€™, and workinâ€™ together right along
We will travel and listen, and help each other along, oh yes we will

In our lives, confront all problems
Oh, have no fears concerninâ€™ death
Easier said than done, easier said than done
In summer the crops do harvest
And in winter brings all the rest
Look around you, be aware
Truth is all thatâ€™s best
Not sure what it is, not sure what it is
Not sure what it is

We can feel the bright blue waters
Oh, we can see the risinâ€™ sun
Moonbeams stand around us
Honeysuckle and fresh plums

We are the children, stand together
Treat everyone as you would yourself
We are the children star, stand together
Treat everyone as you would yourself, oh oh oh yeah
