

Last Dance

Zhaga

Are you there? somewhere out there?
Are you crying this radio silence?
now i remember how it feels, the detachment stinking feelings that I should've left in the shadows maybe you were just a stumble in my way but now i gotta say that i really care

Isn't it supposed to be that when you leave you should be absent?
isn't it supposed to be that when you lose you should be crying?
Isn't it supposed to be that this means that i've lost?, or maybe i haven't I have an order, I'll just obey

do you feel? are we still breathing?
do you like it? or you are still aching?
now i remember how it feels, the demon inside me now i remember how it sounds, silent screaming in my head

Isn't it supposed to be that when you leave you should be absent?
isn't it supposed to be that when you lose you should be crying?
isn't it supposed to be that when you bleed you should grow stronger?
just give the order, command me to wake

Oh, i see is not enough? But it seems it's never enough,
Now i'm not just carving stories

Isn't it supposed to be that I should be a source of light?
isn't it supposed to be that I should be a cure for sadness?
Isn't it supposed to be that I should be a bit more cautious?
but hey, i'm just a little boy trying to save the day but i'm just a little boy trying not to lose his way but i'm just a little boy trying not to die in vain please untie me, untie me, untie me please untie me, and make me swear I will stay cause i will stay i'd be there for you... like I once did

Lyrics submitted by Francisco.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>