

Soulless

Death Angel

We arrive and are blinded
By twisted rubble and piercing light
Screaming sounds of the sirens
Rip through the air on this sleepless night
Take this boy and remind him
Just how fragile his un-sewn life
His daily dose of destruction
Sleeps with his gun, his surrogate wife
Mother fears the door
Baby's off at war
Just like dad before
Left soulless
Promised there's an end
Just around the bend
Lost another friend
Soulless ghost in the air
Helpless feeling of despair
Broken body, scarred mind
They're soulless
Men, women and children
Huddle together or stand and fight
Enemies or our allies
Can't tell the difference, he's blind with fright
He reads letters from mother
Shares photographs from another life
Falling to friendly fire
Today was this heroes final fight
Mother fears the door
Baby's off at war
Promised there's an end
Just around the bend
Soulless ghost in the air
Helpless feeling of despair
Broken body, scarred mind
Left shameless
Left nameless
Left faithless
Soulless ghost in the air

Enter the room to find there's no one left
Guiltless time, poisoned mind
Mocking clocks they chime, you're in tractionWasted days again betrayed
A once honored hero now stains the mattress
No one calls blood stained walls
Mother needle holds you to her breast
Skin and bones
