

Stand Up

Stan Walker

My head spins with a thousand lies so many voices only one that decides I hang my head as I change my mind
If I let you down I appoligize Theres one right choice but to go wrong theres a million ways
It gets so hard I wish I could but I can't Run away they tell me I shouldn't love you They stand in the way I can here the voices and they all say, Should I stand up for love
or should I break your heart
I never knew why
Held the answers in my hands yeah,
So we never let it break us down though I wanna run I cant quit now anything I do won't be enough unless I stand up for love.
So I stand up and I stand tall they can critisise but there not me at all consequence take it on the chin, Love one way we won't be giving in,
One right choice that I make is another mans disdain it gets so hard i thought about it but I can't run away,

They can tell me I shouldn't Love you and try to stand in the way
But I can hear the voices and they all say,
Should I stand up for love
or should I break your heart
I never knew why
Held the answers in my hands yeah,
So we never let it break us down
though I wanna run I cant quit now
anything I do won't be enough
unless I stand up for love.
everything you want everything else seems so far,

can't get enough (through love I am) Yes I'm gonna fight for a very long space in time until your mine (solider for love i am)
Should I stand up for love
or should I break your heart
I never knew why
Held the answers in my hands yeah,
So we never let it break us down
though I wanna run I cant quit now
unless I stand up for love.
