Michael Tolcher

So many unanswered questions
About those who hate so much
Most of which are mislead
Most of which are untouched They resort to violence
To force feed their fascist views
All we see is blood stained boots
For no real reason on the news
On the news, on the news Is there ever a second thought?
That slips on through their mind
That this is sick and wrong
That this is so unkind No tolerance for ignorance
That's the way it should be
I'll try not to judge you
'Cause I know there's two sides to see
There's two sides to see, yeah yeah There's much more to me
Why can't you see?
There's two sides to see
