The Cicada's Song

Autopilot Off

Tonight I have decided that
There's only one way out
And I tried so hard to fight it
But the blame kept coming downNowhere to hide
You were always way too strong
Out in the night
As cicadas sing their songTell me, are you listening?
'Cause no one hears a thingTonight I have decided that
There's only one way out
And I tried so hard to fight it
But the blame kept coming downAnd I've got a torrid story
But there's no one I can tell
I don't know if there's a Heaven
But I'm sure that there's a HellI feel the knife
Like the first time breathing in
Come to life
Like we'll never be againTell me, are you listening?
'Cause no one hears a thingTonight I have decided that
There's only one way out
I tried so hard to fight it
But the blame kept coming downAnd it led me right where Your heart should have been
And it was the last thing you saw
Was it in?I feel the knife
Like the first time breathingTonight I have decided that
There's only one way out
And I tried so hard to fight it
But the blame kept coming downAnd I've got a torrid story
But there's no one I can tell
I don't know if there's a Heaven
But I'm sure that there's a HellOut in the night
The cicadas sing their song
Out in the night
The cicadas sing their song
