Relics

Mike Kohlbecker

Take aim at your promised land
Where would you be without it?
Destroy your legacy so grand
No peace will halt your vengeanceAnd so again, what makes you settle so convinced?
A relic that leaves no room for peace?
So fragile it has always been
Outside main focusYour focus should be suffering
Or have their cries made you go numb?
Can't you see the enemy within?
Blind with hate, you desecrate what brought you hereBut then again, it makes you settle so convinced
A relic that leaves no room for peace
So fragile it has always been
Outside your focusExtinction, your final goal
Now you're the relicAnd so again, you stand here settled, so convinced
Blindfolded, hate filled, without regretsThe center of attention
Doomed, you stand and fight the flames
Lit by your own hand
You can't float upon the river of flame
